¹ Free company-wide calls require IN functionality and exclude calls outside the Swisscom network or special applications such as machine-to-machine, direct dialling or constant connections. Swisscom reserves the right to change its products (e.g. by limiting call duration and free communication within a closed user group) at any time.

² Detailed country list and tariffs start on page 4.

³ If more than 40 GB is used per month, data speeds abroad are reduced to a maximum of 0.2 Mbit/s download and 0.1 Mbit/s upload. Usage remains unlimited and included without additional cost. In order to restore the maximum subscription data packages can be purchased. Users can simply purchase these data packages abroad via cockpit.swisscom.ch.

⁴ "Data Option start" is available for minimal mobile data requirements in the Swisscom mobile phone network for subscriptions (NATEL® go company and NATEL® go Swiss Voice) without inclusive data volumes: CHF 10.00/9.29 for 500MB (can be used max. twice per month). When the allowance has been used, the data speed is reduced to a maximum of 64kbit/s (with no further cost).

⁵ Sales Phaseout

Billing: Each connection will be rounded up to the nearest centime (roaming voice connections to 10 centimes).

Subscription prices depend on the chosen type of subscription and the number of activated connections.

NATEL® go subscriptions are suitable for normal business use. If Swisscom detects that usage significantly exceeds normal levels or if there are signs that the SIM is being used for special applications (e.g. surveillance applications, machine-to-machine, direct dialling or constant connections), Swisscom reserves the right to withdraw or restrict the service, or to take other suitable measures, at any time.

Prioritisation options

The prioritisation options are reserved for crisis management groups and emergency organisations of private enterprises, as well as commercial organisations with security tasks in the public interest, or order¹. The Voice Prio Option prioritises voice calls so that they are possible even if the mobile network is overloaded in unusual situations. In addition to voice calls, the Prio Option Plus also prioritises data connections so that these can still be used in the event of a network overload, and they have a higher capacity than non-prioritised mobile connections.
