

In the age of digitisation, mobile working is a central prerequisite for companies wanting to shape a dynamic future. Enterprise Mobile enables more productive, flexible, innovative and collaborative work.

Minimal administrative effort, maximum freedom

The Enterprise Mobile end-to-end solution reduces the administrative workload, simplifies subscription and device management and establishes cost security and transparency for the company. Its modular structure lets you choose between different variants and put together an offer tailored to your company and your individual needs.

Device configuration and security

Enterprise Mobility Management (EMM) protects your company data on mobile devices and makes it possible to manage configurations both easily and centrally. Secure data hosting in Switzerland, scalable offers, several different service level options and multilingual Swisscom support complete the solution.

Device logistics and financing

Device as a Service (DaaS) stands for holistic device management that ensures minimal interruptions to your work if devices are damaged as well as individual financing options for your fleet. You control the entire life cycle, from device purchases through leasing, instalments or one-time payments to extended warranty and repair management.

Analyses and reporting

Billing & Analytics not only enables the efficient management of subscription costs and usage, but also creates complete transparency. Individual reporting options ensure that you keep track of everything and can optimise company resources at any time.

Employee touch points

Mobility for Work offers you the opportunity to let your employees handle device and subscription management on their own. Our specialists can be contacted at any time by phone, online or in the Swisscom Shops for advice and support. Private and business costs can be easily split to offer greater flexibility.

Mobile subscription

NATEL® go flat-rate subscriptions ensure that you are connected to the best mobile network available at any given time, regardless of your location. Even when abroad, you surf with highspeed roaming data – thanks to our roaming network of over 650 partners, the largest in the world. So you always enjoy the best network – no matter where you are.
